NEW EXHIBIT ON DISPLAY: DO YOUR PART-WORLD WAR I POSTER ART: showcases the variety of patriotic and motivational posters created 100 years ago during the Great War. After the US entered the conflict in 1917, the federal government effectively created dozens of motivational posters urging its citizens to support the war effort.

Dramatic posters urged citizens to buy war bonds, join the military, save starving European refugees and donate money to charitable groups including the Red Cross, Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA) and Young Women's Christian Association (YWCA). The exhibition features a variety of personal items worn and used by the US Army servicemen such as a Campaign hat, Overseas cap and ID disks. Also showcased in the exhibit are items sent to the Doughboys including a Red Cross supplied razor and small shaving mirror.

The federal government held several Liberty Loan Drives in the United States during World War I to encourage every citizen to participate in the war effort. The Third Liberty Drive resulted in the purchase of over two million Liberty Bonds in 1917 and 1918 raising over 40 million dollars for the Allied War effort.
